

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention provides systems, methods, and screens to measure receptor internalization in a single step with appropriate automation and throughput. This approach involves luminescent labeling of the receptor of interest and the automated measurement of 5 receptor internalization to a perinuclear location.

10